

Commercial Performance Coatings

DEFENCE

Military usage places extraordinary demands on vehicles and equipment so it takes extraordinary coatings to give them strong protection in this harsh operating environment. With a proven long-term record for delivering exceptionally durable APAS approved formulations, PPG has established itself as the leading supplier for Australian Defence Force projects. Locally manufactured, to approved ISO 9001, ATA and APAS standards, Commercial Performance Coatings specific ADF product range has an industry-wide reputation for providing an optimised corrosion barrier that protects for many years into the future.

Combining PPG's support network, local know-how and the very latest global technology, Commercial Performance Coatings includes a range of ADF approved products which are easy to use and offer outstanding durability and corrosion protection. Primers provide excellent adhesion to any substrate you are likely to encounter and topcoat camouflage colours come in Near Infra-Red Reflectance (NIRR) with Electrostatic reducers which were specifically designed to work perfectly with ADF products and application.

All products are manufactured in Australia to stringent specifications using premium quality raw materials. PPG's Research & Development team continue to create innovative products which are specifically tuned to the needs of local users.
